The Program Includes:

Basic Interpreting Skills: Interpreter roles, ethical issues, managing the flow of an interpreting session

Understanding U.S. Health Care: An introduction to the health care system, basic anatomy, medical terminology

The Role of Culture in Interpreting: Self-awareness, basic characteristics of specific cultures, traditional health care

Communication Skills: Listening skills, communication styles, advocacy

Professional Development: Professional conduct, resources for professional growth

A unique aspect of this course is the treatment of culture as an integral part of communication, and therefore, an important aspect of the interpreter's work. An interpreter's cultural competency is a crucial part of communication in a health care setting.

Additional Details:

The course employs participatory training techniques in an active learning environment. Class includes devoting a large amount of time to the responsibility of the interpreter, as well as role-playing, group discussions and practicing medical interpreting.

The cost is $650; $450 for ALS interpreters. Price includes manual and all class materials including a language readiness assessment.

Frequently Asked Questions:

What is Bridging the Gap (BTG)?

Bridging the Gap is the oldest spoken-language interpreter training program in the country and has been in the U.S. and around the world for over 20 years to provide a foundation for medical interpreting. You can find out more information at www.xculture.org.

Do I have to attend all 40 hours?

Yes. Under the license agreement with BTG, in order to receive a certificate of completion you must attend all 40 hours and receive a passing score.

What happens if I don't pass the test?

Participants who do not receive a passing score will have the opportunity to take a makeup exam which covers material for the entire course. There is an additional fee in order to complete a makeup exam. The fee is $50.

If I take Bridging the Gap, will I be certified?

No. You can refer to yourself as a qualified medical interpreter once you pass BTG, but you will not be considered nationally certified.

How do I become a certified medical interpreter?

There are two national organizations offering certification for medical interpreters. For more information, please refer to:

<http://www.healthcareinterpretercertification.org/>

and <http://www.certifiedmedicalinterpreters.org/>.

Note that BTG or an equivalent program is required to take the certification exam.

What about ASL interpreters?

American Sign Language interpreters have different certifications processes. Please visit <http://www.rid.org/> and <http://www.nad.org/> for more information.

Do I get any CEU's for this training?

Members of ATA (American Translators Association) will receive 10 CEUs.

I do not have experience in the medical field. Is the training appropriate for me?

Yes! The participants in BTG come from a variety of backgrounds from novice to professional interpreters. The class is taught in a way that incorporates and includes differing skill levels
